NRA to File Lawsuit Challenging San Francisco Gun Ban

Fairfax, VA - Even with opposition from San Francisco law enforcement and major media outlets, Proposition H -- a measure banning the lawful possession, sale and manufacture of handguns and ammunition within city limits -- passed yesterday. The National Rifle Association (NRA) has filed a lawsuit challenging this severe gun ban.

NRA Executive Vice President Wayne LaPierre stated, "We are disappointed, but this fight is just beginning. Lawful residents of San Francisco are being stripped of their freedom because of an illegal measure that defies common sense. We will fight this outrageous assault on the rights of law-abiding San Franciscans and I believe that we will prevail."

Many San Francisco residents who initially supported the ban changed their opinion after NRA and local volunteers began voter education efforts throughout the city. The campaign received an additional boost when the San Francisco Police Officers Association condemned the gun ban, declaring it would "nullify the personal choice of city residents to lawfully possess a handgun for self-defense purposes." Major San Francisco newspapers also voiced opposition to Proposition H.

In response to the passage of this proposition, NRA is leading a coalition of organizations and has filed a lawsuit against this illegal ban in San Francisco. Proposition H, in addition to violating federal guarantees, also violates various California state laws and is therefore preempted.

Chris W. Cox, NRA's chief lobbyist, concluded, "This is a hollow victory for the gun control lobby because this scheme is in clear violation of California law. We will file suit and fight this to the highest courts in the country until good sense prevails once again in San Francisco."

What's an NRA MC ???

What's an NRA Members' Council? OK, its alphabet soup time: The Cal NRAMC is directly under the NRA Exec VP. Got that? Here's an easier way to explain it: look at the picture on your driver's license ... THAT'S who the NRA is!! Now, look at it again along with your NRA membership card ... that's who CAN be an NRA Members' Council member. Easy!

You see, the National Rifle Association is made up of over 4 million Americans who, like you, believe in the Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and are willing to stand up and defend it. We can be a powerful voice for freedom when we all stand together to protect our right to keep and bear arms.

It all started in 1871, when Col. William Church and Gen. George Wingate were shocked by the poor marksmanship of their Union troops. Together, they formed the National Rifle Association to "promote and encourage rifle shooting on a scientific basis." From that day on, the NRA has continued to promote all forms of marksmanship, hunting, and firearms safety programs to men, women, youth, and law enforcement all over the country.

Today, the NRA has had to expand that mission. The Second Amendment is under constant attack by those who want to limit or even take away our Constitutional right to keep and bear arms. California, especially, has an unprecedented need for this kind of vigilance. In the 80's, a group of California NRA activists sought to fulfill this urgent need by forming "grass-roots" groups of pro-Second Amendment believers. Thus was born the NRA Members' Council program.

The MCs operate directly under the authority of the NRA's Executive Vice President's office. We're not a hunting club, or a shooting club. We are NOT aligned with any particular political party or politician. We are a single issue group that focuses on preserving the Second Amendment by working at a local community level.

What the NRA Members' Council does is draw together concerned NRA members and organize them into efficient groups on a local level. The Members' Councils can channel important information and facts to its members for organized and effective action, whether it's a letter writing campaign, a phone calling project, or attending a city supervisors meeting.

We are the ones that make the phone calls, send the faxes, and write the letters and e-mails to our elected representatives to tell them not to infringe our rights. We are the mighty army that can mobilize on a moment's notice to contact our senators, congressmen, governors, mayors, and supervisors.

What happens when you come to a typical Members' Council meeting? Well, to be truthful, "legislative action" doesn't always mean lighting the torches and sharpening up the pitchforks to storm the castle! We don't scream and yell and work ourselves up to a fever pitch and run out of the meeting foaming at the mouth!

"Legislative Action" is often a long deliberate process, with much of our action dictated by events in the Sacramento Capitol Building. Ed Worley, the full-time NRA lobbyist up in Sacramento keeps us informed on up-to-the-minute changes and maneuvers by the lawmakers on gun-related bills. We custom-tailor our responses based on his timely reports from the State Legislature.

When you attend a Members' Council meeting, you will be updated on the most recent changes to various gun bills in the legislature. You may be asked to spend some time writing letters to elected officials or newspaper editors. You may even be asked to volunteer for handing out information at gun shows, rodeos, outdoor sports and hunting expos, or other public events. You may be treated to a guest speaker that may discuss topics ranging from firearms legal questions, to local hunting areas, or a new recreational shooting program.

The Members' Councils also provide firearms safety instruction, special training for new women shooters through our "Women On Target" program, gun safety for kids through our "Eddie Eagle" program, and many other outreach and training programs to our communities.

When it does come down to the political fight, the Members' Councils ARE EFFECTIVE! In 2003, we defeated five major anti-gun bills, and had five pro-gun laws signed into law. In 2004, we defeated or stalled out six anti-gun bills. In 2005, we got six anti-gun bills stalled or vetoed. Two especially important bills we got stopped this year are the firearms microstamping bill, which would require ALL new semi-automatic handguns to have parts that will micro stamp an identifier on each and every round fired, and the ammunition serialization bill which would have required EVERY bullet sold in California to have a serial number on it. We got one pro-gun bill passed as well this year.

All this would NOT have happened if NRA members in California just stood back and did nothing. Instead, concerned California NRA members got involved and joined the Members' Councils. They made the phone calls, wrote the letters and e-mails. They wrote letters to the editors of various newspapers. They talked with friends and co-workers. They MADE THE DIFFERENCE!

Come to an NRA Members' Council meeting near you and make a difference here in California. You can visit the California NRA Members' Council website at <http://www.nramemberscouncils.com> and find a Council near you, or you can visit a gun store or shooting range and find our newsletters and flyers. There are 32 Members' Councils up and down the state, with 10 in the San Francisco Bay Area alone, so there is plenty of opportunity for you to get involved no matter where you live in California. By the way, the Members' Council is a FREE benefit of your NRA membership, so come out and take advantage of this great program.

It's been said that there are three kinds of people in this world: Those that MAKE things happen, those that WATCH things happen, and those that WONDER what happened! By joining and attending an NRA Members' Council near you, you can make things happen and become a proud participant in the fight to save your Second Amendment rights here in California.
